

SHOULD PRESIDENT BARACK HUSSEIN OBAMA II MEET WITH CHINA'S EMPEROR?

(Emperor and head of state in exile)

JFK Blows The Whistle On Secret Societies!

In light of everything that has been happening in America today, I am the most important man in America. When Congress and high-level political decision-makers do not know the way out of our mess and dilemma, when people begin to listen to evil people and incompetent leaders thinking that the continuation of the lie will get our nation out of the hole, these people are sorely wrong. Good solutions do exist and good solutions do work. And in part, this is the reason for this blog and text of John F. Kennedy's speech, to help illustrate and give backing to solid and sound ideas as to how our nation should be governed. May I continue on in the next and following pages and blogs.

President John F. Kennedy
Waldorf-Astoria Hotel

New York City, April 27, 1961

The very word "secrecy" is repugnant in a free and open society. And we are as a people inherently and historically opposed to secret societies, to secret oaths, and to secret proceedings. We decided long ago that the dangers of excessive and unwarranted concealment of pertinent facts far outweighed the dangers which are cited to justify it. Even today, there is little value in opposing the threat of a closed society by imitating its arbitrary restrictions. Even today, there is little value in insuring the survival of our nation if our traditions do not survive with it. And there is very grave danger that an announced need for increased security will be seized upon by those anxious to expand its meaning to the very limits of official censorship and concealment. That I do not intend to permit to the extent that it is in my control. And no official of my administration, whether his rank is high or low, civilian or military, should interpret my words here tonight as an excuse to censor the news, to stifle dissent, to cover up our mistakes, or to withhold from the press and the public the facts they deserve to know.

For we are opposed around the world by a monolithic and ruthless conspiracy that relies primarily on covert means for expanding its sphere of influence — on infiltration instead of invasion, on subversion instead of elections, on intimidation instead of free choice, on guerrillas by night instead of armies by day. It is a system which has conscripted vast human and material resources into the building of a tightly knit, highly efficient machine that combines military, diplomatic, intelligence, economic, scientific, and political operations.

Its preparations are concealed, not published. Its mistakes are buried, not headlined. Its dissenters are silenced, not praised. No expenditure is questioned, no rumor is printed, no secret is revealed.

No President should fear public scrutiny of his program. For from that scrutiny comes understanding and from that understanding comes support or opposition. And both are necessary. I am not asking your newspapers to support an administration, but I am asking your help in the tremendous task of informing and alerting the American people. For I have complete confidence in the response and dedication of our citizens whenever they are fully informed.

I not only could not stifle controversy among your readers — I welcome it. This administration intends to be candid about its errors for as a wise man once said, “An error does not become a mistake until you refuse to correct it.” We intend to accept full responsibility for our errors and we expect you to point them out when we miss them.

Without debate, without criticism, no administration and no country can succeed — and no republic can survive. That is why the Athenian lawmaker Solon decreed it a crime for any citizen to shrink from controversy. And that is why our press was protected by the First Amendment — the only business in America specifically protected by the Constitution — not primarily to amuse and entertain, not to emphasize the trivial and the sentimental, not to simply “give the public what it wants” — but to inform, to arouse, to reflect, to state our dangers and our opportunities, to indicate our crises and our choices — to lead, mold, educate, and sometimes even anger public opinion.

This means greater coverage and analysis of international news — for it is no longer far away and foreign but close at hand and local. It means greater attention to improved understanding of the news as well as improved transmission. And it means, finally, that government at all levels, must meet its obligation to provide you with the fullest possible information outside the narrowest limits of national security.

And so it is to the printing press — to the recorder of man’s deeds, the keeper of his conscience, the courier of his news — that we look for strength and assistance, confident that with your help man will be what he was born to be free and independent.

Should President Barack Hussein Obama II Meet With HIM Yao Sui, China’s Current Succession Emperor And Head Of State In Exile?

(23-Jul-2007) SC Democratic Debate

A. Question by Stephen Sorta
Diamond Bar, Calif

“In 1982 Anwar Sadat traveled to Israel, a trip that has resulted in a peace agreement that has lasted ever since. In the spirit of that type of bold leadership would you be willing to meet, separately, without precondition, during the first year of your administration in Washington DC or anywhere else, with leaders of Iran, Syria, Venezuela, Cuba, and North Korea in order to bridge the gap that divides our countries?”

B. My Poll Question

“Should President Barack Hussein Obama II, without pre-conditions, in his first year in office, meet with HIM Yao Sui, China’s current succession Emperor and head of state in exile (the man who successfully negotiated an end to the Iraq War between President George H.W. Bush and President Saddam Hussein in 1990), in Washington DC or anywhere else, in order to bridge the gap that divides our countries?”

Take my poll. Vote, comment, and view results

Added:

Political courtesy demands that our President acknowledge and treat with all consideration and kindness foreign heads of state. No matter what system of governance, whether communist, capitalist, democracy, dictatorship, or nobility, all heads of state should be accorded the respect due them.

One can take the posture that we lead so we don't have to kowtow to a foreign and barbaric (uncivilized and un-Christian) world power or that we live in a modern day era where nations have evolved and that it is to our best interest to make friends.

In order to gain a nation's cooperation, you either are friends with that nation or you coerce them into doing your will. Which do you think is the better in today's modern day nuclear age?

What a man learns in your country, what he personally experiences, he will take those memories back home with him and the degree of cooperation that we can expect from his nation will be dependent upon how we have treated that man. Big dividends sometimes comes from random acts or even small acts of kindness.

Meeting people is the best way towards good diplomacy. What matters for this poll or survey question, though, is what do the majority of America think?

If a foreign head of state was not granted official recognition and thereby did not receive the protections guaranteed by the laws of our nation and by the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations 1961 as well and this man requested such and was killed or murdered by the police, by thugs, or by this man's sworn enemies the Imperial Manchurian Ch'ing Dynasty (Qing Dynasty), on US soil, did our nation do any wrong and is this matter something that we as a nation can be proud of?

<http://chinatownhawaii.com/himyaosui/>

Should President Obama meet with him? Should President Obama grant this man the protections that he requested?

If China's legal and legitimate emperor and head of state died in our nation, was murdered or killed, or even falsely arrested and framed, perhaps, continually abused by the police, city prosecutor, or by our local churches wouldn't this create an international incident that this nation will never be allowed to forget?
